The major achievement of the projects during the reporting period December 2011 to 29 February 2012, there was 90% of the project activities and outputs had been taken and achieved. The result of the project is directly increasing the citizen participation in good governance process, building capacity and relationship between None state and state actors within target communities through directly discussed, disseminate information and dialogue about their concerns and demand needs for improvement or change.

The project had provided an opportunity to local citizens, CBOs and local service providers or state actors to meet and solve their problems and concerns together. The achievement within this reporting period, we can see that there much changes and improves of 3 public services delivery especially, health center service and primary school such as stronger cooperation between Commune Councils, CRT team; government officers and other NGOs at both local community and provincial levels.

At the provincial level, the project had build a strong relationship and networking between state and none state actors across the province especially the collaboration with District Councils, Provincial Councils, NCDD through engaged them to listen to the citizens at Public society forum, meeting, workshop and other events. there is a started point for State and None State Actors in Banteay Meanchey that opening dialogue, disseminate and working together to promote decentralization process, good governance and public administration reform of the government strategy reform.

Also, this project, there was made new mechanism to built a strong society networking between society actors and state actors (NGOs, CBOs, NCDD, and government officers or public service providers) by mobilized the local resources, shared knowledge, experiences and disseminates information on good governance and SA practices of the governance actors within NGOs target areas across the province.

9. End project review conducted.

RCEDO had organized two workshops inside (targeting commune) and outside the target commune (controlling commune). The two workshops had organized at community level (at commune hall) that is called "End Project Review Workshop on Civil Engagement project for good governance". These workshops took place on 12-13 March 2012 in Treas commune (targeting commune) and Slar kram (controlling commune) which there were relevant participants in total 83 (female 10) local citizens. Those participants are a representative of CBO/ CRT members, CC members, village chiefs and local people. The Objectives of the workshop was reflection of understanding on the project achievement of Decentralization, good governance and SA practices within the two communes.

The result of the workshop , there are more local people participated than expected and shared knowledge in order to spread and disseminate knowledge on good local governance, decentralization reform and social accountability to all participants within the workshop. Each group's representative bravely presented on their answers of group work to all participants and given opportunity the participants to ask question relate to what they had presented. All of participants free to share ideas and discuss within the workshop. It mean's that they aware and better understanding about their rights for demands a good local governance and SA practices.

The workshop review showed that key people, CRTs, CC and CBO members gained awareness and knowledge about their roles in participation in commune planning and decision-making processes and they have the right to demand commune councils and other public service providers to accountable for their actions and decision.

The Group Representative is presenting and sharing knowledge on good governance/ SA practices to the participants at Treas targeting commune of Svay Check district on 12 March.

Group Representative is presenting and sharing knowledge on good governance/ SA practices to the participants at controlling commune (Slar Kram) of Svay Check on 13 March 2012.

10. The Provincial Society Workshop on good governance project evaluation organized.

RCEDO had conducted a Provincial Society workshop to review the progress of “Civic Engagement for local good governance project” implemented and identified new strategies for next project and provide inputs to the project evaluation. This workshop took place on 27th March 2012 at Hun Sen Khla Koun high school which there was relevant participant in total 36 (Female 13) attended. They are comes from relevant LNGOs, government departments officers (local service providers), Representative of CBO/ CRTs, CCs and District councillors (Assessment Note # 26).

Through the workshop, the participants gained and shared more knowledge and information on good governance principles, NCDD programme, organic law, and decentralization under National programme implementation.

The result of the end of project evaluation indicated significant change if compare to pre-project survey only few citizens and CBO members were satisfied with commune administration services, health center service and primary school. The post-project survey clearly illustrated that citizens, CBO, CCs members gained awareness and knowledge about their roles in participation in commune planning and decision-making processes and they have the right to demand the government actors and other public service providers to accountable for their actions and decision. At the workshop, all the participants have made a comment and suggestion to RCEDO project on Civic Engagement for good governance should be longer than this year and spreading to more communes in the province.

RCEDO staff is presenting the result of end project review to all participants at 27 March 2012.

Problems/obstacles

- A lot of water flood that fall down from Thailand and a lot of big raining in the province and target areas; So it had destroyed the road and made us difficult for staff traveling to the community and delayed to activities implemented.
- Location of each target commune is very far from Banteay Meanchey town about 30- 45 km with 1 hr 30 minutes or 2 hrs drive. It made filed staff spent times for travelling with the bad road condition.
- There was delayed and taken more times to respond regarding amendment and the proposed of using public service improvement funds from TAF. The Local Public services had complained and unhappy with RCEDO staffs related to delay of the responses of their action plan requirement as agreed at the service improvement meeting at the 2 districts (Svay Check and Preah Net Preah).
- RCEDO was not independently to collect the information from villagers about the public service provider's behavior. And some governmental officer always accused RCEDO as the opposition party when conduct data collection and public forum.

Mr. Chhoeuy Channa, chief of Provincial Department Education of Youth and Sport said that CRR report is very importance information for shared and told top management of department to understand his officer actions at grass-root community levels because he said that he is able travel every to monitor all his officers. He also suggested to RCEDO to do CRR survey again for secondary school.
#22 to #26	The Citizens, CTRs and CBOs understood the advantage of their participations in local governance and planning processes where they can reinforce commune councils, government Department Officers, local services to networking with other sectors in order to mobilize more resources to respond to citizen’s needs. Through this project was not only helps citizens, but also helps state actors like health center and primary school particular commune councils to improve their quality services to meet with citizen’s demand and contributing to the government strategy of public administration reform. Commune councils in both target and non-target communes are able to explain the principles of good governance and gradually improved their quality services to meet citizen’s expectation and aware that citizens, CRT and CBO groups have the right to participate in demanding public service to provide quality services, have the right to questioning public service providers, particular commune councils to answer and explain their concerns. The Citizens, CRT, CBO members understood the advantage of their participations in local planning processes where they can reinforce commune councils to networking with other sectors in order to mobilize more resources to respond to citizen’s needs. The CRT and CC received new knowledge, and have the ability to inspire the community process in effectiveness. The villagers felt confidentiality that the report would be helped them to receive more quality of public services (said by CRT member at Ttreas commune) . CBO and CRT members aware about their roles and duties as bridge builders and played an important part in promoting and improving collaboration with other key players such commune councils, health center staff and primary schools where they usually used these institution’s services. The CRT team work as a partnership with community and CC in order to improve the awareness of local people on human right, decentralization and democracy and become a human resource for community ownership within the target areas.

The project is more effectiveness and impact relationship with the government staff or public service providers, through awareness raising launched the government staff to understand their roles and responsibilities which able to respond to the needs of villagers, and the villagers obtained more feasible service that were provided by the government staffs.

H-E Chhun Sun, Provincial committee councillor said at Forum that CRR report is very useful for the government officers and local citizens, that it would help them to have the accountabilities and feedback the weaknesses of activities of the public service providers. These project activities were more impact to the policy that they encouraged the service providers to take action and improve the quality of service which delivered to villagers. He said that this is great event that the villagers have the opportunity to meet and talk to the public service providers and local authority for better needs.

The project had a creation of collaboration between state institution and Non State Actor is increased through NGO /CBOs meeting and Civil Society workshop by shared and discussed about decentralization, good governance/SA and other development issues. It means that civil society and state actors across Banteay Meanchey province is hand on hand working toward decentralization approach, good governance and social accountability. They came together to share on local governance experience practical by making common action plans in term of capacity building, partnership and collaboration across NGOs target areas of Banteay Meanchey province. At the meantime; some NGOs like RCEDO, PDP, PK, CHRD, NCDD, VSG, Ockenden, RAHDO, ADHOC, CCC and others had shared resource and responding to the demand of state and none state actors and linkage collaboration with the line government department to take action on quality improvement.

The representative Community Forest Committee (CFC) at Tuol Pongro commune of district raised issues to NGOs Network meeting in order to ask for assistance of problem solving to advocacy at the public forum on land issues will be taken place on 26th December 2011. This is a part of governance to engage citizen to complain for advocacy to illegal persons who have the power to cut the tree or reclamation on land and community forest conservation. It mean that CNGO/ CSO Network, networking members are building strong partnership and extend to National level like CCC, NGO Forum and network of WGPLD.
